The Creation Museum - Backgrounder

The Answers in Genesis Creation Museum has gone to great lengths to maintain high levels of quality and craftsmanship. The $27 million, high-tech experience - situated among the hills of a scenic 49-acre parcel of land near Cincinnati – is a time machine transporting visitors into the period of ancient history soon after the time of creation.

State-of-the-art, family-friendly exhibits, including 55 animatronic and static figures (dinosaurs and human), work to illustrate the Bible as a supreme authority in all matters, withstanding the most ardent scientific scrutiny, and offering hope to millions through its gospel message.

The highly visual experience demonstrates that facts cannot speak for themselves because creation researchers and evolutionists study the same sets of evidence, including fossils, animals, stars, etc. before making an interpretation. Visitors learn that astronomy, geology, physics, biology and anthropology verify scriptural authority when one objectively studies the data.

Guests to the museum journey through a visual presentation of the history of the world via 55 videos, a planetarium utilizing the spectacular Digistar® projector and dozens of exhibits based on the Bible's "Seven C's of History:" creation, corruption, catastrophe, confusion, Christ, cross and consummation. The tour then explores how the Bible provides a reliable, eyewitness account of creation along with major historical events.

Classrooms are available onsite for school and church groups, and visitors can enjoy two miles of nature trails zig-zagging around a three-acre lake.

Prepare to believe.

The museum, constructed debt-free, is the vision of Answers in Genesis co-founder and president, Ken Ham. The 100,000 square-foot complex is located within a 650 mile radius of almost two-thirds of the U.S. population and also serves as the Answers in Genesis headquarters.
